KAUFF'S HOMER BEATS SEMI-PRO TEAM IN CANTON

Canton, Ohio, Aug. 28.—Hariden day was celebrated here yesterday, when the Giants defeated the Bakers, a local semi-professional team. The score was 2 to 1. Several hundred of Hariden's admirers were present and watched the Giant catcher a reception. Bill played in this city several years ago, prior to joining the Boston Nationals, with which team he started his career as a big leaguer.

George Smith of Columbia University fame twirled a fine game for the Giants. He allowed only seven hits and fanned eight men. But for an error by Doyle in the fifth inning Smith would have scored a shutout. The Giants were first to tally. In the second inning Kauff led off with a single and counted on a successful sacrifice by Hariden and Smith.

Kauff was responsible for the winning run. He drove the sphere over the right field wall for a homer in the fourth inning. George Kelly and Harbert Hunter alternated at first base and right field for the Giants and each did well in his position. Fitter, the local twirler, garnered three of the seven hits allowed by Smith, while Dagenhart made two mistakes, one of which went for a double.

PLEARY WINS PAIR OF SHOES, REWARD FOR HIS FOUR HITS

Everyone at police headquarters today was smiling because of the success of the field day which the Police Athletic Association held Saturday at Pleasant Beach. The celebration was the best that has been held in this city in many years and the cops have been receiving congratulations from all sources.

Several of the athletic games had to be cancelled as the contestants failed to appear when it was time for the races to be run. In the much-hated baseball game, Sergeant Jim O'Leary's Majorville nine defeated the Bakers, who were managed by Bill O'Leary, by a score of 15 to 7. Lieutenant O'Leary won a pair of shoes for making the most hits, four and Joe Kasperak also obtained a pair as he made the longest hit. The pair for the man making the most runs has not been awarded as three of the players are tied with two runs each. New Haven took home six prizes, while the Stamford athletes carried off five. It was estimated that 35,000 persons attended the outing.

EIGHT ERRORS AID PLANTERS TO TRIM BRIDGEPORT'S NINE

Bridgeport lost to New London yesterday at Newfield park, 3-1. The home team made seven errors. Home pitched for the Huskies but he didn't get much encouragement from his nation. Missy came on suddenly and at such junctures that home became unbalanced and he parted with 10 hits. Bud Weiser, the visitors' left fielder hit out a homer and a two-bagger.

Baker clouted one in the ninth, on which he managed to get as far as third base, despite an attack of chagrin. Nobody was out, but he tagged there.

Fortune was in the box for New London and he allowed six hits. The only count the Huskies made from these was in the seventh, when following singles by Briggs and Deisinger, Warner hit one to right, sending Briggs home.

The score:

RAM LEADS ARROWS AGAIN.

Greenwich, Conn., Aug. 28.—Ran, owned by Clifford D. Mallory, added another victory yesterday to its laurels of the yachting season by winning the race of Arrow Class craft over the Indian Harbor Yacht Club's five-mile course. In the Indian Harbor one-design class Richard Outwater's Wabst was the first to cross the line.

PRATT A WONDERFUL SECOND BASEMAN, SAYS VETERAN

St. Louis, Aug. 26.—"Talk about second basemen! Show me one in the American league who has anything on Pratt of the St. Louis Browns," said a veteran pitcher to Fielder Jones recently. "Pratt is not flashy and perhaps does not stand out like Johnny Evers, but he is there every second. He covers as much if not more ground than Barry of the Red Sox," continued the veteran. "If I were a manager of a team and had a chance to grab either Pratt or Barry I would prefer the former. He is one of the best the American league has produced," concluded the veteran.

CALIFORNIA COMET SEEKS TO RETIRE AS TENNIS CHAMPION

National Tournament at Forest Hills Probably Last Contest For Maurice McLoughlin.

New York, Aug. 28.—Followers of lawn tennis probably had their last opportunity to see the California Comet, Maurice E. McLoughlin, in action in the national championship tennis tournament which started yesterday on the turf courts of the West Side Tennis club, at Forest Hills, L. I. The popular Californian, who has defeated the pick of the world's tennis players and enjoys the distinction of being the only American player rated at the top of the world's best racket wielders, has been forced to remain out of the tournament competition this year on account of business, and has stated that win or lose, this year's national championship tourney will be the last he will play in. McLoughlin is anxious to complete his meteoric career in a blaze of glory, and for that reason will make a desperate effort to win the titles in both singles and doubles. He has been working hard toward this end for the last six months and has never been in better condition than he is at present. The "Comet" started his early training in much the same manner that a boxer trains for a fight. He did plenty of road work to get his wind in shape and smoothed the kinks out of his muscles in the gymnasium. McLoughlin already has won two legs on the national championship singles cup and another victory will give him permanent possession of it.

The famous Californian made his first appearance in actual competition in the East in the challenge round of the doubles yesterday at 3:30 o'clock. In that match McLoughlin became paired with Ward Dawson against William M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin, holders of the national championship. This promises to be one of the greatest doubles contests ever seen in this country, for the teams could hardly be more evenly matched.

Last year Johnston and Griffin occupied the same position that McLoughlin and Dawson hold this year. They had won the Pacific coast doubles and the preliminary tournament at Chicago. In the challenge match Johnston and Griffin met McLoughlin and Bundy and defeated the latter pair after five hard sets. This year Dawson is unquestionably better than Bundy was last year, and the champions will have to fight hard to hold their title against the challengers.

The United States National Tennis Association will give a dinner to Robert D. Wren, formerly its president, at the Astor Hotel this evening.

Miss Marie Wagner triumphs. Miss Marie Wagner and Albert J. Ostendorf triumphed in the final of the invitation mixed doubles tennis tournament on the Woodmere club courts yesterday, defeating Miss Margaret Grove and Harris J. Steinkamp in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2. Miss Wagner's clever placing and her strong net game proved the feature of the match. She made three-fourths of the earned points for her side, but it was Mr. Ostendorf's steady base line play that made her placements possible. In advancing to the final Miss Grove and Mr. Steinkamp scored over Miss Eliza Hayer and E. M. Phillips in a match that was close all the way.

GEORGIA PEACH IN COLONIALS' RANKS AT ELM CITY GAME

New Haven, Aug. 28.—Ty Cobb, America's baseball idol, served as a magnet to a capacity crowd which packed the Lighthouse Point grounds yesterday afternoon to see the Colonials and New Haven clubs battle in the second game of their series for the city championship. The Colonials, aided and abetted by the pranks of the temperamental Ty managed to nose out a 6 to 4 victory in one of the most thrilling finishes ever enacted on the east shore grounds. Both teams played ragged ball, errors accounting for a majority of the tallies chalked up during the afternoon.

Cobb arrived at the ball park ten minutes before starting time and amused the spectators for several minutes with preliminary batting practice. Cobb hit the ball to every nook and corner of the field and when play was called he stationed himself on first base. Cobb helped himself to two hits, one a scratch double, scored a run, accepted 15 chances at first base, made a couple of wild pitches, one of which accounted for New Haven's first run, and had an unassisted double play to his credit. He displayed his greatest burst of speed in the first inning when he tapped a slow bouncer to the infield and beat Courtney's quick throw by a full yard. The Georgia Peach made two attempts to steal second but was cut down in both instances on lightning throws by Devine. Cobb, however, made himself solid with the fans by his peppery play. He was in the game every minute and injected much life into the Colonial out by his continual chatter. In two of the innings he stationed himself on the first base coaching line.

Cobb tolled for two hours. For his services he received $2.91 per minute. This is the largest amount of money ever paid to a ball player in this state.

RAIN HALTS TENNIS PLAY. Forest Hills, Aug. 28.—Rain caused a temporary postponement of the opening games of the thirty-sixth annual tournament of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association here this morning.

M'NAMARA WINS OVER EXPERTS IN VELODROME RACE

Newark, N. J., Aug. 28.—Reggie McNamara, the Australian cyclist, demonstrated his superiority over the professional riders by winning first place in the two races in which he started at the local velodrome yesterday afternoon. McNamara conquered a field of 35 in the five-mile open, winning by a wheel from Freddy Hill and Willie Huxley.

His other triumph was in a one-mile race, in which the nine best professionals on the track competed. In this event McNamara led Marcel Dupuy, Frank Kramer, and Bob Spears to the tape, winning by a length.

Arthur Spencer of Toronto beat Jackie Clark in the Brassard race at one mile. The finish was very close, and many thought Clark had won. Chis Dotterweich of Newark won the Australian pursuit race for amateurs. The half-mile handicap for amateurs went to Charles Rimmels, a local boy, who started from the 80-yard mark.

BOB MOHA ANXIOUS TO BE GIANT KILER

Tiny Bob Moha will meet Giant Joe Cox in New York tonight. Not since the day that Stanley Ketchel met Jack Johnson in San Francisco has there been such a disparity in the size of two boxers. Moha will take seat No. 1 among the giant killers if he's lucky enough to flatten Cox.

Whipping big men has been one of the delights of his sweet young life. Moha seldom fights men of his own weight for the simple reason that most of the men of his poundage give him a very wide berth.

Cox can box some himself. His showing against Bill Brennan in two Brooklyn bouts showed that he is a dangerous biter and fast on his feet for a man of his size. He will be badly handicapped in tonight's contest because he will have to shoot his best punches down at the little fellow.

Cox will be seconded by Jim Corbett tonight. This general James knows what it is all about and Cox is bound to get an earful of boxing knowledge he never heard of before.

DUNDEE TO MEET WELLING. The Fall and Winter indoor boxing season will get under way this week. Johnny Dundee, the aspiring lightweight, who recently gained fresh prominence by knocking out one of his opponents with what is styled "a mysterious new punch," as the attraction in a bout, with Joe Welling on Wednesday night. Hitherto the agile Italian has been noted for footwork which kept him off the ground whenever he was delivering a blow. Perhaps the reason that he landed the knockout on Young O'Leary, which has caused such a sensation, was that he kept his feet home the whole time he hammered a blow. Welling is being handled by Jimmy Johnston. That he is able to stand a heavy attack was proved in his bout with Harry Pierce, when he went down for a count from a wild swing in the first round and stalled through the remainder of the round. Welling recovered so quickly that he sent Pierce to the mat in the second and won the fight as he pleased.

PONTIAC FIRST HOME IN OCEAN YACHT RACE

The sloop Pontiac, owned by W. H. Bowes, crossed the finish line off New Rochelle in the 203 mile ocean race from Sea Gate last night at 9:45:30. She had covered the distance in 35 hours, 35 minutes, 20 seconds, which is an average speed of 5.5 knots.

Although the Pontiac was the first to finish of the eight yachts that started from the Atlantic Yacht club at 10:10 Saturday morning, she did not win the prize offered by Commodore L. T. Petersen, who promoted the race, because the committee at a meeting on Friday sustained the protest of the owners of the other yachts that she is not a cruiser. She will receive a special prize.

Commodore Petersen's flagship, the Florence, conveyed the yachts nearly to Montauk Point. Fleet Capt. Alvah Nickerson, who with John R. Brophy and Samuel L. Finlay of the regatta committee, and E. H. Havens, were guests of the commodore, sailed upon the yacht's arrival at New Rochelle last night, that from the start until dark on Saturday, the yachts had a nice race from the southeast which enabled them to lie their course down the south shore of Long Island.

At 5:30 he said, when the Florence was a mile or so west of Shinnecock the Pontiac was the leader. Daniel Eacon's schooner Seafarer, the second yacht at that time, was apparently overhauling the sloop. The Florence went on and anchored for the night in Port Pond Bay. When she entered the sound in the morning, bound for New Rochelle, the Sea, Jr., which had apparently come through Plum Gut, was in mid-sound, well in the lead, with the Pontiac close under the Long Island shore, going fast in a good southwest breeze. Some of the other racers were seen astern, but also hugging the same shore, probably to cheat the outgoing tide. The Florence then proceeded direct to New Rochelle, arriving there at 9 o'clock last night.

MERKLE LIVENS BROOKLYN TEAM WITH PRESENCE

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 28.—The Sunday crowd at Redland Field, numbering nearly 6,000 persons, was entertained by a band, a cabaret and the antics of three one-time Federal league pitchers. The musical part of the program was all right and pleasing to the multitude, but the pitching end of the sketch was tragic, and Brooklyn, won, 13 to 6.

Earl Moseley, Heine Schults and Elmer Knaster took turns in trying to stop the fierce attack of the Superbas. Moseley was rapped severely from the start. When he filled the bases by walking Merkle when there were two men on and none out in the third round he was withdrawn to prevent further slaughter.

Schults had slightly better success, but before he got through all three of the runners left by Moseley on the bases had scored and another to go along with them. Knaster was the worst of the three. He took up the burden in the fifth, and it was some burden. Before the round was over eleven men had gone to the big five of them had hit safely and three of them had been walked with the bases full. The round yielded six runs for the leaders, three of which were forced in by passes with the sacks clogged. This is the acme of ineffective hurling, but "Matty" had no other pitcher to send in, so Knaster had to work through as best he could.

The Reds hit Sherrod Smith rather hard and toyed with "Big Ed" Appleton in one inning, but the Brooklyn lead was far too great for them to overcome.

Perhaps it was the renewed confidence inspired in the Superbas by the addition of Fred Merkle to their ranks that led them to swat the Red hurlers so ferociously. Merkle arrived from Pittsburgh with John J. McGraw. He reported to Wilbert Robertson, the Dodgers' manager, at once and went to work for his new boss in the afternoon. He played his usual steady game at first base and drove out two hits, but the best thing that he did was to revive the lagging spirits of his new teammates. The psychological effect of Mr. Merkle's presence was plainly evident.

How the Superbas scored their "baker's dozen" of runs would be a space eater which can hardly be told here. The Reds got their half dozen by bunching some bingles, but the most of them were only scored after the Dodgers' twirlers had eased up.

Terry Lee furnished an innovation at the outing held yesterday by the association that is named for him when he presented a number of cabaret singers and performers. Their entertainment given in the pavilion added enjoyment to a delightful day at Columbus park. There were about 300 in attendance. Steaks, clam chowder and a lunch were served in the morning and in the afternoon there was the roast sheep served. There were three round boxing exhibitions between Hughie Ross and Joe Woods, K. O. Moran and Jimmy Stern and the Kelly brothers. Battling Levinaky was referee and Joe Smith timekeeper. Bill McGuire's White Sox defeated Terry Lee's Stars 12 to 5 in a five inning baseball game. The cabaret entertainers came from Savin Rock and Walnut Beach in automobiles. P. F. Supple assisted Mr. Lee in carrying out the arrangements for the outing.

CONSIDER THREE BIDS FOR HEINE ZIMMERMAN

Chicago, Aug. 28.—The transfer of Heine Zimmerman, third baseman of the Cubs, to another club in the National league, is again under consideration today. Three clubs, Boston, New York and Philadelphia, have made bids for Zimmerman's services, according to Manager Tinker, of the Cubs. Tinker says he expects to obtain two infielders and a pitcher in the trade.

BULKLEY'S HORSES WIN.

At the horse show given by the Orange Agricultural society at Middletown, N. Y., last week, B. A. Bulkley won first on his distinguished horse, Raffaele, who holds the world's record for a six heat race over a half mile track. He also won three blue ribbons on his standard bred mare, Miss Hill, by Walnut Hill, and the championship silver cup, valued at $50. Miss Hill also won two blue ribbons.
